

Dear all,

The NSW / ACT Branch of the Institute of Healthcare Engineering Australia (IHEA) will be holding a Professional Development Day at Rydges Hotel, Campbelltown NSW.

The branch Committee of Management cordially invites you and/or representatives of your organisation to take part at this exciting event.

This event continues the IHEA principals of providing continuous professional development and exposure to industry best practice, products, technology and practices in the ever changing face of hospital engineering and healthcare facilities management.

The professional development offered through this invitation is a unique opportunity to increase knowledge of modern industry trends, products and the new technology across the broader health care industry. The invitation is extended to IHEA members as well as non-members, engineers, health care facility managers, industry professionals and service providers alike.

We are providing a rare opportunity to network with other health care and specialised experts, industry providers and representatives from associated to asset, facility and engineering agencies.

The proceedings will commence at 09:00 am on Friday 16th June 2017, with registration, followed by lunch and a day comprising of technical presentations, panel discussions and a technical tour of the recently completed Campbelltown Hospital.

To attend this year's conference simply accept the electronic invite that should reach your mailbox shortly.

Accommodation is available at Rydges Hotel Campbelltown, refer to IHEA and special rates have been confirmed. To ensure room availability please reserves your accommodation by COB Friday 2 June 2017.

Should you require further information or assistance in considering these opportunities please contact Jon Gowdy or Tanya Markovich, contact details as below.

We look forward to your attendance and participation at this exciting event.
